

RESOLUTIONS.

Whereas we have learned of the death of Judge W. A. Naylor who lost his life in the discharge of his official duties. And whereas he was a high-toned Christian gentleman who could be approached by the humblest citizen of the county, be they white or black, no man stood higher in the estimation of all the people than Judge Naylor.

Therefore be it resolved, That we bow in humble submission to that God who doeth all things well and who suffereth not a sparrow to fall to the ground without his care.

Resolved further, That we, the members of the Pleasant Hill Baptist church, feel that we have lost a great friend in the death of Judge Naylor and extend our condolence to the bereaved family.

By order of the church.

Henry Griggs, clerk.

A WONDERFUL ANTISEPTIC.

Germs and infection aggravate ailments and retard healing. Stop that infection at once. Kill the germs and get rid of the poisons. For this purpose a single application of Sloan's Liniment not only kills the pain but destroys the germs. This neutralizes infection and gives nature assistance by overcoming congestion and gives a chance for the free and normal flow of the blood. Sloan's Liniment is an emergency doctor and should be kept constantly on hand. 25c-50c. The $1.00 size contains six times as much as the 25c. Adv.

It's easy enough for the crack-brained hum to criticize President Wilson's war policy, but it is no less easy for the crack-brained hum to mean anything. Therefore, Mr. Wilson is to be pardoned for thinking at least a little bit before he speaks and acts.

THERE IS NEED FOR DUAL-PURPOSE COWS

Pontiac Artie—Holstein-Friesian—Official and Semi-Official Records: Yearly Record, 861.53 Pounds of Fat From 21,834.7 Pounds Milk; Seven-Day Record, Begun Not Less Than Eight Months After Calving (267 Days), 15.331 Pounds of Fat From 400.3 Pounds Milk; Best Thirty-Day Record, 103.548 Pounds of Fat From 2,488.5 Pounds Milk; Best Seven-Day Record, 25.369 Pounds Fat From 550 Pounds Milk.

The combination beef and dairy cow has been thus described: A cow that is large, strong and vigorous, full of energy and abounding in vitality; physical organization and digestive capacity such that she is able to turn to the best advantage the roughage of the farm, converting it into merchantable products; that she yields large quantities of most excellent milk fit for any and all uses; that heredity is so firmly established that she is able to perpetuate herself through the production of strong, healthy calves; and that when for any reason her usefulness in the dairy is at an end, she fattens readily and makes excellent beef.

No one will deny the need of a dual purpose dairy breed in America—one that is primarily a dairy breed but that will also furnish desirable beef. The old system of beef production resting on free range, cheap lands and cheap feed is even now a thing of the past. Meats of all kinds are, year by year, advancing in price; and if the working people are to have beef at all within their means, it must come from the dairy herds of the country. Except for beef for the few who are able to pay very high prices, cows can no longer be kept merely for the calves produced; practically everywhere the dairy cow must take the place of the beef cow. Since these facts are indisputable, farmer-dairymen seeking to improve their herds for dairy purposes should keep the item of meat production constantly in mind.

How many cows there are in the United States that are kept for milk production, except for such figures as are found in the census tables, is unknown; but it may be safely stated that the number exceeds 20,000,000, and that the average cow does not give a return of exceeding $40 per year for the labor invested and food consumed.

With increasing land values and cost of labor and feed, such a return gives little or no profit; and it is up to the farmer-dairymen keeping average cows to find out why he is working without compensation. If the average dairy herd in the United States produces just enough to induce its owner to keep on working, it is evident that many cows are kept at a loss, and that if the average production could be raised a nice profit would result. It is also evident that the only way to raise the average is to improve the methods of caring for the cattle and also the cattle themselves. By improving the methods, it is quite likely that the better three-fourths of the cows would produce as much profit as all now do, and the one-fourth now kept at a dead loss might be sent to the block without decreasing the output of dairy products. The man who milks cows merely for the pleasure he gets out of it, provided he can afford it, may confer a favor on humanity, but does not show good judgment, and the sooner such men can be induced to change their methods the better it will be for the whole dairy industry.

Improvement in conditions is necessarily slow. The greater part of the owners are lethargic; but there is always a progressive portion that is looking for better things, and this portion will in time leaven the whole mass. The main cause of this lethargy is ignorance. Few men would keep unprofitable cows if they knew which were kept at a loss; but they do not test the cows individually and so cannot know.

All progress in dairy husbandry, aside from improved methods of caring for the cattle, must depend upon improvement by selection and by breeding. By selection of the best cows, and breeding to the sons of best cows, in time a great improvement would be shown; but this process is too slow when there is a quicker way. That quicker way is to make use of the improved dairy breeds for the obtaining of bulls with which to mate the selected cows. An improved breed is one that is able to convert food into valuable products more profitably than could the breed or breeds from which it was derived. Also it must be so thoroughly established that it will breed true. The breed which should be carefully bred to is the one that excels in the profitable production of milk, butter, cheese and veal, and also beef production.

MARKETING THE PEACH CROP

One successful Way is in Car Lots and That Means Co-operatively—Some Essential Hints.

(By W. H. WICKER, Arkansas Experiment Station.)

For conditions where the markets are comparatively distant there is just one way to market peaches successfully on a commercial scale, and that is in car lots. This generally means co-operatively, as few growers have enough of any one variety to make up a car lot themselves. Growers in the same community should plant the same variety in order that they may ripen at the same date. It is almost impossible for a peach grower to live by himself. Therefore do not expect to go into a community, no matter how well the soil and climate are adapted to the cultivation of peaches, and expect to make a success of five or ten acres of peaches unless you have a good local market. Better get a few neighbors to go in with you and plant a few acres and market co-operatively. Form a co-operative association and, if possible, affiliate with a larger central market agency.

As for peaches, the trade uses the bushel basket and the six-basket crate. Nearly all the markets prefer the bushel basket, and there it is, in most cases, the more desirable package.

Proper picking, grading and packing are essential features in peach marketing.

Fresh Water for Cows.

Fresh, clean water is particularly important during hot weather and a fresh supply should be given the cows at least three times a day.

SEPARATOR IS QUITE USEFUL

To Secure Last Cent of Profit Out of Dairy One Must Take Every Precaution to Get Most Milk.

The modern dairy is very different from the dairy of the old time, and to get the last cent of profit out of your labor, and out of your cow, you must take every precaution for securing the largest quantity of milk and for getting from that milk the largest quantity of butter and cream.

One way is to get a separator and then to learn how to use the separator. Then you must study the food problem. You must keep an account with every cow. If you have three or five or ten, do not average the production of milk. Keep a separate account with each cow and find out whether each cow is producing enough to justify you in feeding it and caring for it. This is the foundation of success in the dairy.

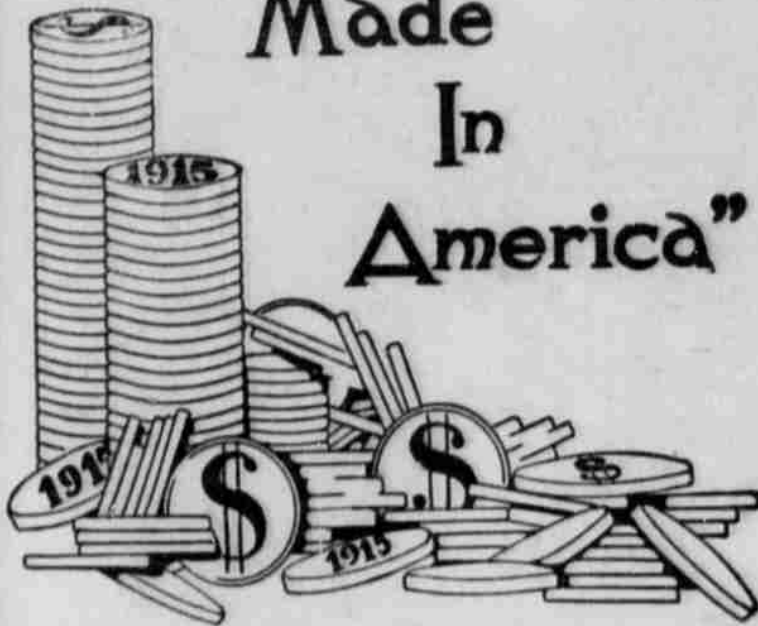

PROPER ROOSTS FOR CHICKS

Always Use Flat Pieces About Three Inches Wide—Allow Plenty of Room for Them to Grow.

Do not give the growing chicks any opportunity to roost upon the cross studdings. If such are used in the construction of the house cover them with a slanting piece of wood which makes it almost impossible for them to perch on.

The roosts should also not be round, as such roosts are apt to cause crooked breast bones. Always use flat roosts about three inches wide and of sufficient capacity to accommodate the number of chicks comfortably, allowing plenty of room for them to grow.

EVER SALIVATED BY CALOMEL? HORRIBLE!

Calomel Is Quicksilver and Acts Like Dynamite on Your Liver.

Calomel loses you a day! You know what calomel is. It's mercury; quicksilver. Calomel is dangerous. It crashes into your bile like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel attacks the bones and should never be put into your system.

When you feel bilious, sluggish, constipated and all knocked out and believe you need a dose of dangerous calomel just remember that your druggist sells for 50 cents a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tonic, which is entirely vegetable and pleasant to take and is a perfect substitute for calomel. It is guaranteed to start your liver without stirring you up inside, and you can not salivate.

Don't take calomel! It makes you sick the next day; it loses you a day's work. Dodson's Liver Tonic straightens you right up and you feel great. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and doesn't grip.

Now is a good time to take a glance over your backyard and devise some plan to ostracize the fruit cans and rubbish which have accumulated since the last installment was removed. You can generally judge of the occupants of a home by the condition in which the front and back yards are kept.

A MORAL IN TIME.

When the frost is on the counters and the colwheels on the shelf, and there's scarcely anybody in the store besides yourself, and your stock is getting shelfworn and the groceries are stale, and bills enough are coming due to make a banker pale; oh, then, the time a feller's kinder blue, and is puzzled with the proper thing to do. But in such a situation one sure remedy applies, if you want to get the customers, you've got to advertise.—Ex.

A gentleman was riding on the street car the other day, when he saw on the advertising spaces, printed in large letters, these words, "Pure Rye Whisky—Tones up the Body; Brightens the Intellect; invigorates the Soul." After reading it, his eyes dropped involuntarily to the seat beneath the advertisement, and there was a drunken man. His eyes were bleared, his face bloated, with red lines of dissipation in it, and his body slouched down in a sort of collapsed way common to men under the influence of liquor.

"STEEL CITY" HELD BY CREDITORS AT CAIRO.

Claims for material, fuel and wages against the Steamer Steel City, of the Chicago, St. Louis and Gulf Transportation company which began to pour in Friday after the boat was labelled by the Cairo City Coal company, amounted to over $4000.

On a motion issued by the United States supreme court of the eastern district of Illinois at the suit of the Cairo City Coal company brought by Gilbert & Gilbert, the Steel City was seized by Deputy Marshal Swodoba there Monday and is at present still tied up at the Cairo wharf in the custody of the officer.

Since the seizure of the boat other claims for coal and supplies have been filed by coal companies and by men employed on the boat for wages they claim is due them. The total amount of claims now filed exceeds $4000, W. G. Gilbert, of the law firm of Gilbert & Gilbert said last week. Of this sum over $1700 is for wages due the crew of the boat.

The steamer was on her way to LaSalle from New Orleans. The boat is the first steamer to make the entire journey from LaSalle to New Orleans by water according to claim of the company. Its entrance in the passenger and freight list of the Mississippi was widely heralded as a revival of "old time" river trade when the whistle of the steamboat was heard at every landing on the great river.

The boat made the trip from LaSalle to New Orleans and return in about two weeks. The company advertised that the trip would be made every three weeks. The steamer has been running since the early part of the summer.

The Next Best Thing To The Pine Forest For Colds Is—

Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey which goes to the very root of cold troubles. It clears the throat and gives relief from that clogged and stuffed feeling. The pines have ever been the friend of man in driving away colds. Moreover the pine-honey qualities are peculiarly effective in fighting children's cold. What would you think of a preacher who would come in to your section carrying a Bible in one hand and a bottle of liquor in the other? That is just what our government is doing with the benighted nations of the earth. The same ship that carries the missionaries, bears over the bosom of the mighty deep Milwaukee beer and Kentucky liquor or some other death dealing brand. And yet we say the "United States is a Christian nation." Armed with the "rum bottle" and the Bible we go out to conquer the world for Christ.
